

STRIKE DEVELOPS INDUSTRY COURT

Kansas Governor Asks
That New Tribunal Be Established.

ARBITRATION IS BASIS

Allen Would Have Laws Made to Prosecute Profiteers, He Says.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 20.—(Preparatory to the meeting of the Kansas legislature in special session on January 6, members of that body have under consideration numerous plans for a state law which will meet the requirements of the present industrial situation, brought to an acute head by the coal strike. Governor Allen in his proclamation calling the special session, has asked the legislature to formulate some method whereby disputes between employer and employee in essential industries may be settled without a complete curtailment of production, caused by strike or lockout, pending settlement of the dispute. Arbitration of these disputes, Governor Allen declared, has proven inadequate. Some other plan, in the operation of which neither party of the dispute shall have a final voice, must be devised, he stated.
The administration legislative program as proposed will include three essential policies. Preliminary, an industrial court will be urged, it is said, with a possibility that the legislature may undertake the establishing of such an institution itself.
And also recommend such as a solution of the current problem on a national basis. Profiteering laws will be second. Recourse by the public may be secured through a bill providing for a jury determination of profits. Another course in this particular may be through a commission or license system to retailers and affecting tradesmen, middlemen and producers. A third provision considered of vital importance is for a new workmen's compensation law. A commission was appointed by the governor, at the request of the legislature, which met the first part of this year, to investigate the operation of the present workmen's compensation law and to report recommendations for its revision or a new law.

HIGH RANK FOR SCHOOL

State Chairman Briles Praises Okmulgee Institution for Effort.

Special to The World.

OKMULGEE, Dec. 20.—Okmulgee high school has attained a place at the top of the list in Oklahoma educational circles. After a thorough inspection by State Chairman Charles W. Briles, he enthusiastically made the following statement:

"Okmulgee high school is the first 100 per cent vocational high school that I have inspected this year. It was a pleasure to visit the departments of the school and to see the high standard set by the instructors. The high school is now following a new system in that the instructors are men of experience in the actual commercial fields, as well as being thoroughly equipped for their work by being graduated from the best universities in the land."

The Jain temple at Calcutta is built chiefly of white marble and every square foot of the surface is decorated as if it were a jewel box.

TO USE CHEAPER CUTS

That is the Message Sent to Housewives of Tulsa by the Teachers.

"Grocery bills can be reduced by the use of cheaper cuts of meat and meat substitutes. Then why do not more housewives take advantage of these enemies of the high cost of living? Because they have never given them a trial. They imagine it is all a myth and they continue paying the high prices."

So says the domestic science instructor of the Y. W. C. A. More than that she now proposes to show them that she knows where of she speaks. With the new domestic science desks already installed in the educational department of the "Y" courses have been arranged so that the women and girls of the city can learn to serve dishes and menus that require the minimum of time in preparation and secure a maximum of dietary value and palatability.

Special demonstrations will be made of the casserole and the home made fireless cooker which is declared to be an indispensable friend of the cook in need of reasonable values.

Courses to be offered by the department vary from principles of food values, supper menus, baby feeding, and casserole cookery, together with such special lines of the work that are asked for.

Business women who are forced to select their menu from cafeterias and tea rooms will be offered a special course in food values planned to enable them to secure the maximum degree of health and energy from a balanced diet from the bill of fare at the restaurant.
